

Lisa Cox

Lisa Cox, Director of Government Relations for the Infectious Diseases Society of America (IDSA), develops and implements IDSA federal legislative initiatives, including federal funding for infectious diseases research and public health programs. Additionally, Lisa also works on ID physician workforce issues and antimicrobial resistance legislation. Ms. Cox's years of professional advocacy includes serving as Director of Federal Government Affairs for the American Diabetes Association, and Assistant Director for federal affairs for the National Association of Community Health Centers. Lisa also worked for former Senator Tom Harkin and former Congressman Alan Wheat.